Manager Mark Milmine

The concept behind Braided Rivers is right up Mark Milmine's alley.

Both he and his wife, Nicky, have years of experience in the food industry and, for the past six years, have enjoyed using it widely in Ashburton.

Mark originally set up the Star and Garter restaurant in his home town of Oamaru before meeting Nicky and joining her in another venture there – The Last Post.

After 12 years, the couple decided it was time for a change and moved to Ashburton.

Mark took on a position in the menswear department at Todds and Nicky's time was devoted to their daughter Mickayla 4 at the time, now 9. The Milmine's have since had another daughter, Molly, 4.

It wasn't long before the food industry began calling again and the Milmine's took on Tuscany's, however, the contract was only for 18 months.

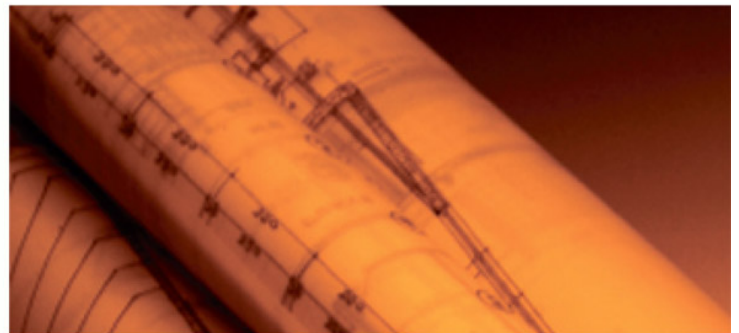

When Ashburton's Speights Ale House opened in 2006, Nicky was made head chef and is now the manager.

Mark was site manager at the Ashburton Hospital, where he looks after cleaning, contracts, orderly, patients' food, the cafeteria and meals on wheels.

Mark is very excited about the opening of Braided Rivers and says the restaurant will be similar to his work at The Last Post.

"I thoroughly enjoyed that part of it. The whole lot is really exciting. Being back out in front with the clientele, the catering upstairs ... knowing you can rely on a great chef in the kitchen. That's huge. You can concentrate on the front of house.

"I think Ashburton should be very excited."

We're inspired by you!
